A RAILROAD DISASTER.

PRIDGE GIVES WAY WITH A TRAIN.

ferrible Accident on the North Britsh Railway-300 Passengers Sup. posed to have been Lest.

LONDON, Dec. 29.,10 A. M.-The manager of the North British Railway, telegraphingfrom Leuchars at 4 o'clock this morning says: "Several large girders slong with the last train from Edinburgh were precipitated into the river ast night. There were nearly three hundred passengers besides the Company's servants, all of whom are believed to have perished." A dispatch from Edinburgh dated 4 o'clock, says: "A portion of the bridge which fell consisted of several large superincumbent girders at the central and navigable portion of the river, which averages from forty to forty-five feet in depth. The train would fall about eighty-eight feet before reaching the water. Some time elapsed before the nature of the disaster was ascertained. the damage to the wires on the bridge and the badness of the weather interfered with the transmission of news. and it is unknown whether the girders ware blown down before the train entered the bridge or were carried away with, it and it will probably never be ascertained as there are no survivors. The bridge was only opened for traffic in May, 1878. It was considered a triumph of engineering skill. It was o miles long and had eighty-five spans, the widest of which was two hundred and forty-five feet; at the highest point it was one hundred and irty feet above high water.

LATER. The train left Edinburgh at 4:15 in the afternoon. It consisted of four thirdlass cars, one first-class, one secondlass and a brakeman's van. At the last station before entering the bridge, ickets were taken and the train ther crowded. Vast quantities of wreckage, such as doors and roofs of carriages, leces of the bridge and articles of wearing apparel are coming ashore he entire thirteen girders of the long central spans of the bridge are gone. The night was bright moonlight, but wind was blowing a hurricane. A dispatch from Dundee to the Press Association, asserts that the number of lives lost by the Tay bridge disaster does not exceed ninety. This is proba-bly an underestimate. The bodies of six of the victims have been recovered.

THE LATEST. The railway authorities now estimate

he total number of lives lost at seventy-LONDON, Dec. 29-6:30 P. M.-A telegram from Dundee states that only fifty-six passenger tickets were taken it the last stopping place, but these not account for the number of young children requiring no tickets, nor for he number of railway employes, nor the number of passengers for the Broughty ferry, whose tickets were not taken up. If this statement is correct it is evident that the loss of life has been greatly overestimated.

General Gough, CALCUTTA, Dec. 29.—General Roberts telegraphs under date of the 26 h instant, as folk vs: "Butkak has been reoccupied. A force will start for Kahistan to-morrow to punish those who participated in the recent movement here. General Roberts' total loss up to date is seventy-seven killed and two hundred and twenty wounded." A further telegram from General Roberts. dated 26th instant, says that a heavy snow fell on the 25th, preventing the pursuit of the enemy. The country about Cabul and the line of communi cations are now clear. The Bala hissar magazine has been emptied. There were several explosions in Bala-Hissar during its occupation by the insurgents, and one explosion, it is stated, killed one hundred persons. The telegraph ine was for a great part destroyed, but it is being rapidly repaired.

From the Indian Country.

DENVER, Col., Dec. 28.-A specia to the Denver Tribune from Los Pinos. dated the 25th instant, represents that the situation is very serious there. General Hatch was to have started from Los Pinos yesterday and spend the night at Cline's ranch on the Cimarron. On the 30th he will start from there for Alamosa, which is the last railroad station. General Hatch has given up all hope of securing the Indians, and as his departure is tantamount to a declaration war, much anxiety is felt as to his fate. There are several hundred braves on the number over twenty-five. The roads are blocked with snow and only passible for light buck-boards. The light shave the whites completely trapped. Those in the bowl are General Hatch, Colonel Valois, W. F. Saunders, near Los Pinos, and the whites, all told, it is believed that the troop of cavalry under Colonel Mackenzie stationed at Fort Garland has been ordered to make a forced march to Los Pinos at once. But they cannot get there before the I dians make an attack unless Ouray succeeds in keeping them quiet a little longer. Ouray, Animas City, Siver Tongue and other settlements are exposed. The White River Utes have consumed all the stores taken from the White River Agency and are eager to make an attack on the Los Pinos Agency. If Hatch has left without any Indian murderers it is considered that war will open at once. The Indians will strike the first blow as they have everything their own way at present, owing to the removal of troops to distant points at the demand of Ouray.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 29.-Advices from Camp Rucker are to the effect that Gerdnowa, the Apache chief, with eighty-three of his band, surrendered to the military authorities at Camp Rucker and were brought to San Carlos for preservation. This is a band which have been depredating for some months along the border and did much of the work credited to Victoria's band. This virtually wipes out all the renegade Indians in Arizona and on the border.

Man and Dog Fighting. St. Louis, Dec. 24 .- A terrible combat occurred on Monday evening between 'Patsy' Brennan, a well-known pro-fessional pugilist, and a Siberian bloodhound, for a wager of $250. The affair was conducted very secretly. The posice knew nothing of it. The fight asted three-quarters of an hour, when Patsy proved victorious, but he is lying in bed in a shocking condition, his shoulders and arms being terribly lacer-ated and torn. His injuries will not prove fatal, however. The scenes during the fight between man and dog were frightfully disgusting. Tiger, as the hound is called had his heavy lips torn and was so badly used up that he died within an hour after the fight. Brennan says he will never fight another dog. His pluck and endurance were remarkable. Once, when the dog pinned him to the floor he neither groaned nor called for help, but seized the animal's lower lip with both hands and tore it from the upper one, so that the pain caused the dog to release his hold. The police are hunting up all concerned in the brutal exhibition.

A Family Frozen to Death.

BISMARCK, D. T., Dec. 24.-A very severe storm has raged throughout the whole Northwest territory for the past two weeks. The mercury at Fargo has been down to 40 degrees below zero, and at this point 24 degrees below. Trains on the Northern Pacific road have been almost constantly delayed by drifts. Walker, Bellows & Co., con-tractors for the 1,000 mile extension, have 500 men at work 150 miles out on the barren prairie. There is great suffering among them, as they are without sufficient rations or clothing, and are inaccessible to supply trains. One man named O'Connor, his wife and two children were frozen to death, and many others have been badly frost-bitten, Governor Garcelon Issues a Card De fining the Cause of the Trouble -The Situation.

FAIRFIELD, Me., Dec. 28.-A large meeting was held here last night to ratify the action of Governor Garcelon and the Council, but more especially to give Councillor Brown a chance to defend himself before his townsmen, as at an indignation meeting held last week a resolution was passed personally condemning him for his action as councillor in disfranchising his own town and requesting society to ostracise him. Mr. Brown was called on and made a speech defending the action of the Governor and Council. A number of resolutions were adopted including the following:

Resolved. That we as citizens of the town of Fairfield believe that the Governor and Council have canvassed the election returns in strict accordance with the constitution and laws of the State and that they are entitled to our respect and esteem for so faithfully performing their duties, and they shall have our support and services in whatever capacity they may be needed so long as they pursue their course in harmony with the laws and constitu-

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—The following explanatory card from Gov. Garcelon is published here: "Augusta, Me., Dec. 27.—The difficulty grows out of the fact that the Governor and Council confine themselves to the constitutional and legal provisions in tabulating and counting the votes as returned by the municipal officers. The constitution makes certain things to be done by them imperative, the law supplements others, and our Supreme Court has given official opinions as to what is to be done under certain circumstances. Every year there have been defective returns, returns rejected that are not counted for non-compliance with the constitutional or legal provisions; but this year, in addition to the usual oc-currence in this direction, a sort of mildew or epidemic seems to have infected several of our larger cities. These returns are fatally defective, not only as would appear to an ordinary mind, but as decided by the rules laid down by our highest judicial tribunal. It is alleged, however, that by a law which was passed in 1877, the Governor and Council have authority to make alterations or amendments of returns; but, unfortunately for their claim, that law, even constitutional as applicable to senators and représentatives, confines only the correction of returns to a record made in an open town meeting, and in cases where an attempt has been e correction of the record if any existed, was found to agree with the returns. The simple and only question, therefore, is: Shall the Governor and Council follow the mandates of the constitution and law, and the judicial decisions explanatory thereof or act in obedience to the popular the constitution under their eet, and forfeit not only all self-respect but that which they have a right to claim, both from friends and foes, so long as they adhere to their line of the illicit still of West Stone, near Swann's station, on the night of the 22d, catching him in the very act of doubling. They waited until he got through with the charge he had on, when they seized the still and whisky and also a lot of beer just ready for the still. He had the still up in his kitchen, and so near the public road that persons in passing could smell the whisky. Several persons who were depending on him for their Christmas grog, will now have to look elsewhere. W. E. After they had sung a few pieces, "Santa Claus" walked in, bringing a large supply of nice presents for the children who were members of the Baptist Sunday school. Many were made to rejoice and be "exceeding glad." The children, being supplied with "horns," bells, harps, etc., were enabled to make a "great noise." Santa Claus was well pleased to see the chil-

The Wizard Astonishes the Quiet Villagers---The Light Pronounced a Perfect Success.

A. Edison's electric light last evening.

New York Star. 25th. The little village of Menlo Park, N. J., was illuminated with Professor Thos.

Only four out-door lamps were in operation, but the electric burners to the number of twenty-eight were distributed in a dozen houses, and the new light was pronounced a perfect success. There were not more than 300 people at the Park to witness the illumination, as Professor Edison and his associates had kept the matter as quiet as possible, and no invitations to attend had been sent out. When asked why the public had not been advised of the intended lighting of the village, Super-intendent Batchelor, who is the great intendent Batchelor, who is the great inventor's general manager at Menlo Park, said: "My friend, we did not wish to get a crowd of people down here, as we have no accommodations for a multitude. This place, as you see, is a very small hamlet, and we could not take care of more than 200 or 300 people." ple at a time, unless they stood out of doors, which would not be very pleasant, as you can judge. Then we do not want too many strangers at any one time going through the laboratories and workshops. The most of people will meddle with and handle things they ought not to touch, and by having only a few persons here at a time, we can watch them and see that no damage is done." When the reporter for the Star arrived at Menlo Park yesterday it was late in the afternoon. A misty, foggy atmosphere pervaded the locality, which, together with the clouded sky and lowering weather, made twilight come much earlier than would otherwise have been the case. In fact, it was not later than 4:3 o'clock when the illumination began. The connecthe illumination began. The connection between the enormous-electric generators and several of the houses, including the residence of Superintendent Batchelor, were only just completed in time for last evening's display. The village presented much the appearance of a patriotic celebration, or an illumination in honor of some great event. The people present could easily event. The people present could easily imagine that the importance of the occasion was not attached to the light itself, but that the people were celebrating for some other reason.

Climbing upa staircase in the laboratory building, the reporter found himself in the presence of Professor Edison. The Professor, who wore a plair suit of mechanic's clothing, and had a check handkerchief tied about his neck to prevent his taking cold, was in a talkamuch rejoiced at the success of his invention, he preserved the self-pos-sessed, unassuming deportment for which he is noted.

"Does your new light meet with the success you anticipated?" asked the reporter of the Professor. Mr. Edison, who is somewhat deaf, did not understand the question at first, but when it had been repeated in a louder tone of voice he replied. "O, yes; it is a complete success. It is carbonized paper that is the last link in this discovery." "Well, you have made a great discovery," remarked the reporter, "and you deserve credit for it." "Of course," remarked Mr. Edison. "the success of this light is owing in a great measure to study and scientific research, but it can also be attributed "Do you mean to say that you made this discovery by chance?" "Not exactly that-but let me think moment how to express myself so as to give you the correct idea." (Here Mr. Edison placed his forefinger on his forehead and was for a minute in a brown study.) "Well, you can best judge what I mean when I tell you it was something like throwing a doublesix at dice. You know you might throw a hundred times and not get a double-six. Several conditions were requisite to the success of my light, the want of any one of which would have made the thing a failure. But I was lucky enough to throw a double-six in this instance, you see."

The Professor then opened a drawer in one of the work benches at his side, and produced a very thin strip of black carbonized paper. The strip was not much greater in thickness than a coarse sewing-needle. It was about two inches long and bent in the shape of a horse-shoe. This, he explained, had sufficient retentive properties to hold sparks of electricity long enough to give a clear, steady light. The electric current strikes one end of this carbonized slip and passes off at the other end. The slip is placed in a small glass globe from which the air has been exhausted, and then all that is necessary is to turn

It was demonstrated by last evening's illumination that the light of each of the so-called burners was fully equal to a street lamp or a dwelling house. Only two electric generators were in use yesterday to supply the twenty-eight burners which were in operation; but with additional or more powerful gene rators the intensity of the light, Mr. Edison said, could be increased many fold. A third generator was nearly completed and in readiness for operation last evening. It will be finished within a day or two, and then a dozen or more additional burners will be set going.

Then a beautiful "Reindeer Galop" is played by the orchestra, and while this is being played, the sound of sleigh bells and the popping of a whip is faintly heard, and pretty soon the bells ring out clearer and nearer, the whip pops louder, and Santa Claus is heard outside stopping his Reindeer. Then he enters the room and, firding the children as leep, fills their stockings with good things. The scene then changes, and Santa Claus appears at the festival, the children crowd around him, and manifest their delight by a rousing chorus of welcome. They then shake hands with him, and he distributes his toys, etc. He then tries to teach them how to play in an orchestra, and joins them in singing the closing

HOW CREDULOUS PEOPLE ARE TAKEN IN AND DONE

The Now-You-See-It and Now-You-Don't Soap Prize-Box Business-The Fakir.

The following article is taken from the Philadelphia Times, and describes a game often played throughout this section. It may be worth something to some of the readers of the News to know how the thing is done;

Quite recently the "finest police in the world" have made New York entirely too sultry for a swarm of petty swindlers who were practicing the species of legerdemain known as the "soap racket." This, for its proper success, requires a "fakir" with a brazen counenance, electro-plated by experience in the train of some traveling show, a small satchel and a stock in trade, composed of about one hundred little gilt boxes an inch or so in length. In these are deposited diminutive morsels of yellow soap of the commonest kind. The "fakir," stationing himself upon a street corner. with the yawning mouth of the satchel before him, rolls up his of the satchel before him, rolls up his coat sleeves, and, producing a $5 bill, or something which at least resembles one, takes up one of the little boxes from his satchel, pushes out the sliding drawer, folds up the bill carefully, and apparently deposits it within the box apparently deposits it within the box, which he closes. The diminutive receptacle of the $5 bill, or $1, as it may happen to be, is then returned to the satchel, mixed up vigorously with the others, and the process is continued until several of the boxes contain money, as it would appear—only they don't. The operator by dexterous sleight-of-hand has substituted bits of colored paper for the bills, and leaves a protruding here and there green er among the mass. When he has finished his task he re-When he has finished his task he resumes the mixing up operation, and having by this time succeeded in drawing acrowd around him by dint of vigorous talk or "patter," as the slang of the profession goes, he is ready for business. He announces that for fifty cents or one dollar he will dispose of three of the diminutive prize caskets, with a chance among the lot of getting the five dollar bill. There is always some one in the crowd who thinks he has seen the money deposited and thinks he can the money deposited and thinks he can hit the right boxes. He is first cousin to the man who always knows which card is the "little joker" in the game of three-card monte. Well, the sagacious person, or "Cute Aleck," as the fakirs dub them, pulls out a dollar and invests it in the three boxes. He goes off quietly to the edge of the crowd. His heart is in a flutter, because he has seen a green thing sticking out of one of his prizes and feels sure it must be the five-dollar bill. In fact he is certain. He wanders away and is accompanied by some of the others who want to be eye-witnesses of his good fortune. The three boxes are opened, one after the other, but not a cent is there to reward the investor—nothing but a scrap of green paper in one of them, perhaps. The victim, if he has a few ounces of brains left, sneaks sheepishly off.

If his bump of avarice is too strong he blusters around resentfully, and after threatening the hardened "fakir" with all sorts of dire things, without, however, succeeding in getting the re-turn of his cash, he posts off and hunts up a policeman, who arrests the "fakir." Then there is a hearing before a magistrate, the "fakir" enters bail in the person of some obliging tavern-keeper, who doesn't want to lose a good customer at his bar, and Mr. Fakir goes out and resumes business again. Efforts have been made here by the police, persistent efforts, for months past, to break up this modified species of villainy, but it flourishes as rank as ever, because of the army of victims who conceal their chagrin and loss of who conceal their chagrin and loss of cash through their indisposition to go through the exposure and confession of imbecility before the magistrate. Yesterday John Jackson, alias the "Sheeny," who had just got in readiness to take the victims at Fourth street and Ranstead place, was arrest and before he had an exposure the ed before he had an opportunity to give away any $10 bills, at the rate of three for $1. His stock was carefully searched through, but not a copper could be extracted from the lot. Before Magistrate Smith the unabashed "fa-kir" said that there were no false pre-tenses used. He only told people they could get the soap and did not guaran-tee to distribute money. tee to distribute money. He entered bail to keep the peace. At a regular meeting of Seaton Gales Lodge No. 64, I. O. O. F., held last Thursday night, the following-named officers were elected for the ensuing semi-annual term: W. H. Cole, N. G.; Joseph G. Brown, V. G.; Phillip Thiem, R. S.; W. T. Utley, F. S.; William Woollcott, Treasurer.

The Washington Star of Friday states that Collector Young, of Raleigh, on that day telegraphed to Commissioner Raum as follows: "Deputy Penning-ton captured two distilleries in Moore county yesterday, in full blast, one owned by Wm. Brady and the other by Kelly Williams, both old offenders. Commissioner Raum telegraphed in reply, expressing his satisfaction at the success that is attending the raids on moonshiners in North Carolina, and directing Collector Young to push matters vigorously. He also informed Collector Young that he was opposed to granting in the future amnesty to

GEO. C. JORDAN, Editor and Prop'r Gas manufacturers are still incredulous, but Edison seems to have accomplished the subdivision of the electric current for illuminating purposes as his exhibition Wednesday evening showed, and the gas men will be obliged to acknowledge his success, financially as well as argumentatively. SUPERINTENDENT WALLING, of the New York police, thinks that the city "hit" $100,000 in a recent lottery drawing. The ticket was purchased to obtain evidence against the concern selling it. The number drawing the capital prize was not published, and this fact leads the Superintendent to the above con-

It is stated that General Stewart L. Woodford is so well pleased with the result of his canvass in Louisiana that he desires to go to Georgia in the interest of the Republicans. The Democratic papers of the State are delighted, and extend the General a cordial welcome. They think that with his assistance they may be able to run their majority up to 100,000.

THE New York Tribune insists that there is no new principle involved in Edison's electric light, and that he has met with no result to repay the labor of a twelvemonth. In view of the recent developments at Menlo Park, this statement must be accepted with several grains of allowance. Its value depends largely upon whether Jay Gould is bulling or bearing gas stocks.

THE Hon. John Keteltas Hackett, Recorder of the city of New York died at his residence on Friday. He had been in poor health for nearly a year, and was for the last two months confined to his house. He lost his mental powers almost entirely toward the last and was barely able to recognize his most intimate friends. His wife and daughter and a few personal friends were at his bedside when he died.

THE Signal is the title of a new weekly paper issued in this city by Judge William J. Clarke. It professes to be Republican in politics; but the editor states that he shall criticise the actions of Republicans with freedom, so that the party may receive no detriment from the misconduct of individuals. The Judge announces that the Signal is a square out and out Grant paper; therefore those in favor of imperialism will know where to seek for mental consolation of that nature.

THE Washington Post urges that it would not be out of place for the national government to make appropriatiens-possibly of public land-for the purpose of encouraging instruction in industrial arts. It points out that the amount of wages annually paid out in manufacturing, mining and mechanical industries in this country is nearly three times as great as the wages paid by the agricultural interests, thus proving that our interests are, by no means, as strongly agricultural as is commonly supposed. It is true that mechanical industries are becoming more and more scientific, and that, if a country wishes to maintain itself, it must have for its artisans men who have more than a mere machine-shop training.

Some correspondents, telegraphing about the financial operations of the Government, assert that the balance of the 4 per cent, bonds authorized for resumption and refunding purposes, in amount $104,654,050, is to be sold, and funding operations resumed immediately by Secretary Sherman. The Secretary has no authority to issue 4 per cents. except as he calls bonds that are redeemable, giving three months' notice. The first bonds that become redeemable are $18,415,000 on December 31, 1880. Therefore under the law giving three months' notice he could not if he wished, sell any of the $104,654 050 for refunding purposes until the 1st of October next. In the meantime it is expected that Congress will enact such legislation as will authorize refunding operations beyond the $18,415 000 that matures December 31, 1880.

THE Boston Herald, speaking of the census appointments, says: "We are glad to notice that the leading Southern newspapers are opposed to the plan of taking the next national census by nominees of the two political parties. St. Louis and Chicago have shown us in the past that it is possible to overcount a population to an excessive amount, and if a party bias is given to this numeration, there will be a strong pressure put upon the census-takers to make liberal estimates in their calculations. This will be particularly the case in States where the representation in Congress is likely to be affected by a new apportionment. This result is almost sure to happen in some of the Southern States, where the increase in population during the last ten years has been very slight; and it is from politicians in this quarter that the idea emanated that the census-takers should be the nominees of the two political parties."

THE MAINE TROUBLE.

It begins to look as if the plan suggested by Mr. Morrill for the settlement of the controversy in Maine would be adopted. Governor Garcelon's reply to Mr. Morrill indicates a willingness to submit questions in dispute that have not bitherto been adjusted, to the Supreme Court of the State. While the court would not have jurisdiction over the matter of the disputed certificates of election, if the two parties now contending for supremacy in the legislature will agree to abide by the court's decision, there need be no further trouble. The points in dispute are based upon constructions of the constitution and laws, and certainly there is no better tribunal to decide such questions than the Supreme Court of the State. The people of the entire country would rejoice in a peaceable, quiet and just settlement of this difficulty and the arbitrament of the Supreme Court would be received with more confidence, more satisfaction, than any other mode of decision. Very naturally the legislature would, in ence, but the Supreme Court is above that, and hence its decision would be regarded as a true construction of the aws. It might be possible for a legislative body to vote itself from a majority to a minority in order to do justice, but as no such record has ever been made in the political history of this government, the public mind does not expect it in Maine.

It is indorsed by the direct personal testimony of men of national fame and strictness of speech. It is not too much to say that no medicine ever had such support in its favor as a specific. The word of any one of the eminent divines who underwrite this antidote to dyspepsia has deserved weight. Their united witness joined with the experimental use and approval of the preparation by well-known physicians, removes all doubt. Many cases of Dyspepsia within my knowledge have been cured by it. Cramps, Collos Headaches and all sorts of pains from indigestion yield promptly to it. The cures of this sort are innumerable. Rev. R. L. Dabney, LL. D.,

Col. Va.

It is nightly esteemed here by the regular Medical Faculty and the people. It is excellent for indigestion and flatulent colic, sedative, soporific, tonic, slightly aperient without nausea.

Rev. B. F. Woodward, P. E., Na. Cont. About twelve years I suffered from Dyspepsia. Falling in with this remedy, I gave it a fair trial. After its use I could eat anything with impunity. I am sure I am indebted to this medicine for what of health and physical comfort I have had for the last sixteen years. I have known many since to be relieved by its use.

Rev. Robert W. Watts, A. M., Ve. I have used the mixture in my family for years, and have taken it for a Dyspepsia Colic, which threatened my life, and was cured, eating any diet without hurt. I have recommended it to other sufferers with happiest results. It is the best tonic and corrective I ever knew. For prostration from Dyspepsia or Liver Disease it is invaluable.

J. D. Eggleston, M. D., Va.
It is a highly valuable remedy, and is more extensively used than any single article in the whoe list of medicines, so far as I observed in my practice, for all the complaints in familie from indigestion. I use it and recommend it.

A FORTUNE QUICKLY MADE. MONEY has been made more rapidly within the last few months in Wall St. than at any period since 1873. Immense profits have been realized from small investments. The following affidavit explains itself: Personally appeared before me, George A. Payne, of 134 W. 49th 8t. New York City, to me known, and on being duly sworn says that on an investment of $25 placed with Thatcher, Belmont 2 Co., Bankers, and by them operated for a period of two weeks, I had returned to me by the said firm $972.53.

What Physicians at Home and Abroad Think of the Seven Springs Irou and Alum Mass. In the treatment of Dyspepsia, Chlo rosis, Anæmia, Nervous and Muscular Debility, Nervous and Sick Headache, Dysmenorrhœa, Menorrhagia, Amenorrhœa, diseases of the Kidneys and Blad der and such like organic or functiona disturbances, I know of no remedy upon which I can rely with more certainty of satisfactory results than the "Seven Springs Mass."
W. F BARR, M. D.,

Abingdon, Va.

I have found no one single remedy to yield such satisfactory results as the "Seven Springs Mass." In the treatment of Dyspepsia, Chronic Diarrhœa, Anamia, Chlorosis, and for Chronic Eczema, I find it invaluable, associated with appropriate topical treatment. GEO. T. HARRISON, M. D., New York City.

From my experience with the "Iron and Alum Mass," I believe it will prove the best medicine we have in use, for chronic diseases. G. M. D. PATTERSON, M. D., Eaglewood, Texas.

For Dyspepsia, Ulcerations of the Throat, Inflammation of the Neck of the Bladder, Leucorrhœa, etc., the "Seven Springs Mass" seems to act with almost specific effect. E. O. GRIGSBY,

We could extend this list into the thousands with such testimonials from physicians from every State in the Union, but these are sufficient to indicate its application. The reputation of the remedy is too widely known to waste words upon its character. In ordering from druggists always mention Seven Springs Mass. Price $1 per package or six for $5, sent by mail,

SATISFACTORILY GUARANTEED TWELVE MONTHS.

Breaks during the week have been heavy, but no change is noted in prices since our last report. Prices closed firm on all coloring grades in good order. Here is what the Manufacturers say:
In construction of our work we use Patent Wheels, Hand-made Wheels, also Sarven's best Patent Wheels. We use only Refined Iron. We use the best of Swede and Norway Iron Bolts. We use the best Oil Tempered Springs, which are all warranted to us. We use the best Case-Hardened Solid Collar Axie Sheldon's make, Anchor brand. We use the best of Top Leather, also Fancy Colored Trimming Leather and best of Cloth. All Top Linings are pure woolen goods, and not half-cotton or shoddy. We stitch all Tops by hand, and naft none. We use concealed joints in all Tops. We use Steel Bow Sockets, also Wood Bows. We miter all corners. All wood-work is thoroughly put together. Glue and Screws only being used. We use Hard wood for all Frames. We use the best Seasoned Hickory in all Gearings. In Trimmings we are excelled by none; and in Painting we use Standard Colors, and finish with the best English Varnish.

We claim that we manufacture a better style, and a more superior finished vehicle throughout, for the price, than any other house in the United States. We except none.
